

Flash Tally of Green Borderline

* 27th of March 2007

† 19th of April 2012

He's had it actually there is nothing more to say about this outstanding dog. He was a Border Collie, true in everything he did.

Born into my hands, picked by my mentors Alison and Bob and matured into something I never thought I'd be able to breed to that time.

We had a great time together, learned by each other and scaled to the top.

Tally was a showdog

He loved shows, presented himself like a star in the ring and outmoved them all, everything was just right.

Tally gained the following titles:

International Champion

Austrian Champion

Austrian Clubchampion

Danish Champion

Slovenian Champion

Croatian Champion

Austrian Top Winning Border Collie (also of all British Herdingdogs) 2009

Austrian Clubwinner 2010

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=iz1LhUJmFVs&context=C44a056bADvjVQa1Pp_cFOp_VQE-R1XJWErof5SC-qRmiN380cn81c=

But this was only one aspect of this great dog.

Tally was a herdingdog

He passed the FCI herdingtest with the highest score of the day.

He loved to work the sheep, his biggest handicap has me, his handler, been. How much I wished to have another Border Collie with his talent!

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=f3fUorC_JLk&feature=relmfu

Tally was a clown

Tried to make me laughing whenever possible. He's had the most beautiful smile in the world. Making nonsense and watched me with half an eye meanwhile to wait for my reaction.

Tally was the boss

Never aggressive, never angry, but so sovereign. He matured into the boss of the pack, so strong in his mind, my little policeman. Being aware that everyone was following the rules.

Tally had the best temperament one can wish, his big love were people and bitches (and sometimes he fell in love with little dogs. I think he never understood that little dogs are not automatically bitches 😊)

We had a lovely story at a show in Zagreb, HR, where Tally was in the cage and me and a friend went for a coffee before the show began.

When we came back, there were some people around the place where we have left the dogs and when we came nearer I saw Tally, who had opened the zipper to jump onto the groomingtable and lay down, where he was able to flirt with the passing people and giving thousands of kisses.

Above all this Tally produced superb puppies and he passed on all his good qualities, so he is not lost for the Border Collie world, but for me.

His progeny is spread above the whole continent, Scandinavia and also the UK. He lived his last year with my ex-husband, so we only had four years together.

It has been a big honour to me .

You are leaving a huge hole in this world and in my heart, because you've had it all